Austin Articles Begin in Century

Mrs. Mary Austin, sometimes of Carmel, spent the greater part of 1923 in the Southwest adding to her already extensive knowledge of the natives and the Indians there. In The Century for series of four articles by her, dealing with the history, the peoples, and the topography of that country. This first article, "The Trail of the Blood," is the fascinating story of the Penitentes and their rites.

"What I am trying to do," she writes, "is to define and describe those features of the Southwest which will be contributory to the great culture which will arise there within the next fifty years."

"My business in studying a country is to know the topography, the best places for people to live and make a living, and the way those places are related by rivers or trails or mountain passes. The most important thing of all in prophesying the future of a people is to know what they look at, the landscape contours, the color, the atmosphere of a locality."

"In studying the Penitentes for my article in The Century for May, I was chiefly interested in the form their Christ drama takes as modified by New Mexico and their experience there, the increasingly cheerful and neighborly tone, the lessening of the interest in the figure of death, and the telescoping of the morbid features of the crucifixion into one episode."

"Every one else who has written about the Penitentes writes of them as a spectacle, the horrifying and morbid aspects of them. I am interested in the human aspects and the promise of the future. I expect great drama to come out of the Southwest when the Spanish blood has been absorbed."

Carmel-by-the-Sea

(A Vacation Song from a Stenographer's Note Book)

From my cabin door I see
Dunes as white as souls fresh shriven
Ocean fretting restlessly,
Cypress frowning dark, wind driven.

Best I think I like it when Night has come and stars shine high
Pine trees point their fingers then
Silhouetted to the sky.

Long full days are waiting me
But at night when all is still
I will close my eyes and be Back on Carmel Hill.

Varied Activities of Arts and Crafts Shown by Reports of Officers

At the annual meeting of the Arts and Crafts Association, held at the Forest Theatre, May 12, the president, Mrs. Mary E. Hand, presiding, Mrs. Susan Porter acting as recording secretary pro tem. in the absence of Miss Ruth Huntington, forty members answered the roll-call.

The secretary's report of the year's activities shows eleven meetings of the club, eleven meetings of the directors, of the club with the directors of the Forest Theatre. Four meetings of the club have been social evenings, one at which Dr. Alfred E. Burton talked of his tramps in Switzerland, one when Mrs. May French-Sheldon told of her African explorations, one song recital by William Edward Johnson assisted by Mrs. Romaine Hunkins, and one evening of poetry with Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Scollard. Three of these were open meetings to which friends were invited. Refreshments were served by various hostesses.

Other entertainments under the auspices of the Arts and Crafts include: Three Kegg-Goldsmith Marinettes presentations of "Cinderella."

Two DeVoto concerts of chamber music.

Two summer Sunday afternoon teas with reading and music by John North-ern Hilliard and Thomas V. Cator, and readings and songs by Mrs. Sydney Yard and Mrs. George Kegg.

A Duo Art recital by Serge Halman of Sherman Clay & Co.

Two lectures on Astronomy by James H. Worthington.

A notable circus on the town lots on upper Ocean avenue.

A lecture by Dr. D. T. MacDougal on "The Physical Basis of Life and Growth" one by Miss Fairley on "New Zealand," and

The new Arts and Crafts Little Theatre was formally opened on November 28 by the presentation of "The Thrice-Promised Bride" and "The Queen's Enemies" on two successive evenings, followed by two evenings of "Doubling in Brass."

There followed in December a concert for the benefit of the new theatre by David Alberto, and later in the month a rendition of "Faust" by talent from outside.

In January, Mr. Arthur Cyril was engaged as business manager of the new little theatre, since which time there have been presented:

"Wild Oats," two nights.

"The Monkey's Paw" and "Op o' Me Thumb," two nights.

The Pacific Grove Musical Society in a concert with its own chorus and orchestra.

"Belinda," two nights.

The April Dickens party followed by dancing.

On Good Friday evening Stainer's "Crucifixion," by the Choral Section under direction of Fenton P. Foster.

And, to cap the climax, "The Carmel Follies" in early May.

Early in December a Carmel orchestra of fifteen members was organized.

The amalgamation of the Arts and Crafts and the Forest Theatre was consummated early in February.

As a benefit for the Arts and Crafts, John B. Jordan gave a dinner at Pine Inn and presented Frederick Warde, who read from "Julius Caesar."

From July 9 to September 1, 1923, was held the Tenth Annual Summer School under the direction of Miss de Neale Morgan. Mr. Paul Mays and Mr. Joseph Mora were instructors, with Miss

Mr. Thomas Vincent Cator, aesthetic dancing under Joan Williams, and a course in puppeteering under Miss Fanny Goldsmith.

The Seventeenth Annual Exhibition of Paintings by Artists of Carmel and Monterey was held from July 25 to September 21, showing 82 canvases and presenting the work of 62 artists. Between twelve and fifteen hundred guests visited the gallery during the exhibition.

Plans are well under way for the Eleventh Annual Summer School, from July 7 to September 1. Miss Morgan will again be director and instructor, assisted by Mr. W. D. Gadsden in lectures on "Art Appreciation," Mrs. Shirley Williamson in crafts, Perry Newberry in cartoon work, Miss Elizabeth Dickenson in juvenile drawing and painting, Ira Remsen in portrait and figure work, Mr. Dayton in basketry and furniture making in reed and willow, Mrs. A. L. Emery in singing and Mr. Colby in piano.

There have been elected to membership during the year two honorary members, thirty-two from the Forest Theatre Association, and eighty-nine regular members.

Respectfully submitted,
RUTH HUNTINGTON,
Recording Secretary.

The report of the treasurer, Miss De-Neale Morgan, showed a balance on hand of $1777.40.

The play committee's report of plays, circus and entertainments from August, 1923, to May, 1924, made by Mrs. Phil K. Gordon, showed gross receipts of $3656.70, expenses $1890.82, net receipts $1765.88. After this excellent showing votes of thanks were given to the manager, the committees, producers, actors, officers and all others who had assisted.

Miss J. M. Culbertson's report of the Boys' Club was well received.

Mr. Fenton Foster gave an informal report of the activities of the musical section.

Mrs. Abbie McDow as club historian, presented the scrap book of club history. Dr. Burton announced an exhibition in June of posters, photographs, etc., of all Forest Theatre plays, and asked for the loan of any material in possession of any member.

The next business before the meeting was the election of officers. The president, explaining that it was advisable to postpone this matter until September in order to make the annual meeting of the Arts and Crafts coincide with the annual meeting of the Forest Theatre, now merged as one organization, Mr. Newberry moved that when this annual meeting adjourned, it should adjourn to the second Monday in September as an annual meeting with election of officers. Carried without objection.

The meeting then adjourned.

SUSAN PORTER,
Recording Secretary, Pro Tem.

Wheeler Hall Players Here

Interesting visitors to Carmel recently were Harold Minger and John Herzog who have been associated with the Wheeler Hall Players at the University of California, the former playing leads for the past three years. Critics acclaimed him a young man of exceptional talent, and predict a great future for him. He is taking a vacation, and after a short visit with his mother in Los Angeles will go on to New York where he will spend some time in study. While here they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Bremer, who showed them the beauties of the Monterey Peninsula.

Drama League to Meet at Pasadena

This year's national convention of the Drama League of America, to be held in Pasadena, promises to draw a record attendance. Delegates are coming from all parts of the country. It will be held meeting of the organization on the Pacific Coast.

As most of the women's clubs in the West have drama sections, they are invited to send representatives to the convention. The program will interest them exceedingly.

Mrs. Thomas G. Winters, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will talk on "Club Drama Study as a Force in Elevating Standards."

"Organization Work of the Drama League," "The Professional Theatre," "Drama in the High Schools" and "The Silent Drama" will be discussed by leading factors in those respective fields. Also conference of little, art and community theatre representatives will be held.

The social side of the convention has been richly provided for. There is to be a series of garden-teas in the environs of Pasadena. Each evening, a guest performance will be given in the Community Playhouse by the Pasadena Community Players, the Los Angeles Literary Theatre and other groups of non-professionals.

One of the outstanding features will be the laying of the cornerstone for the new Pasadena Community Playhouse, which will cost a quarter million dollars. It is generally recognized as the foremost non-professional theatre in America.

Miss Eleanor Bissell, president of Pasadena Center, has general charge of convention arrangements. Among those who will speak are Samuel J. Hume, Irving Pichel, Lorado Taft, Capt. Paul Perigord, John Emerson, Augustus Thomas, William DeMille, Monroe Lathrop, Francis Neilson, Arthur Farwell and others.

S. F. to Have Fine Summer Vocal School

Lazar Samoiloff, whose list of eminent pupils includes such well known artists as Rosa Raisa, Julia Clausen, Claire Dux, Giacomo Rimini, Curt Taucher, Renee Thornton, Bianca Saroya, has made plans, at the urgent request of former and present pupils to spend the summer months at San Francisco, where he will conduct a master class for artists, teachers and students, beginning July 7th, and lasting six weeks.

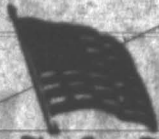

The course offers four free scholarships and diplomas to graduates.

The art of singing in all its branches, from the rudiments of tone placement to the study of repertoire for concerts, oratorio and opera in Italian, French, German, English and Russian will be taught. A method for correcting faults in tone-producing, enlarging range, cure for tremolos and hoarseness. A course of lectures on voice and vocal pedagogy for teachers will be given twice each week in connection with private lessons.

What Lazar S. Samoiloff has achieved by his intense energy, artistic enthusiasm and ideals, rare magnetism and unremitting study, is made manifest in the exceptionally interesting testimonials given him by the world's greatest artists, and also by his professional pupils. No one at all acquainted with musical conditions needs any reminder of the high artistic position which he holds among the ablest singers and teachers of vocal culture.

Samoiloff has placed the management of his San Francisco class with Miss Alice Seckels, to whom inquiries may be addressed.

BOYS NEED COMPANIONSHIP OF MEN

Justice James C. Cropper of the New York Supreme Court believes that the criminal problem cannot be solved without the co-operation of many men willing to become companions of boys during the impressionable age. He says:

"Over 80 per cent of criminals are less than 25 years of age. The vast majority of all the youthful offenders commit crimes because they had bad associates and were not under the proper influences in the years when their boyhood was turning into manhood—between the ages of 12 and 18.

kind of a man. He needs such a man's life to supply his ideals and such a man to become his hero. Every boy is a hero worshipper. Many become criminals because they follow the wrong leaders.

"Tens of thousands of boys are nightly on our streets looking for amusement, seeking adventure, yearning for companionship. Many of them have no fathers, and the parents of many others give little heed

"Do we men owe no duty to those boys? Should we not provide places where such boys may meet and play and be under the influence of men of the right kind?

"This is a practical thing. It can be done. It has been done in a small way and with wonderful results. Why should not we undertake it in a big way? We can lessen the crime in our midst by giving our attention to the youths. They need a real man's guiding hand and helpful personality. They need the example of a true man's life in forming their character.

"We can advantageously learn eugenics from the New Turks," says one who keeps in touch with the former Ottoman empire; "as witness, the Turks have a stringent law regarding the preservation of health and prevention of the spread of generic diseases, compelling a thorough medical examination alike of the man and woman before a permit to marry is given. During one month hundreds of Turks were placed under arrest for violation of this law."

Breakfast With a String Attached

By Madame M. French-Sheldon,
F. R. G. S.

When visiting the Comptroller French post of de Brazzaville, the governor and his staff gave a luncheon in my honor. During the course of our pleasanties, the governor vouchsafed to remark, that notwithstanding the strange adventures, and marvellous sights I had seen and encountered in my numerous journeys in wild countries, even he could there and then show me something perhaps, more unique than any previous one.

This announcement aroused my curiosity, and I eagerly declared that if that were the case, I should be delighted to see the wonder.

In quaintly couched French, he said, after our dejeuner a la bourchette, he would reveal the price of a venturesome "Python's dejeuner a la Croquette."

Laughingly, but a bit suspicious that I was to be the victim of a practical joke, I avered, "Oh! It must cost considerable to feed a python, all alimen-

When the luncheon, which was most sumptuous, was finished amid an interchange of compliments and gaiety, and I declared that curiosity consumed me with impatience to know the menu of his python. We walked to the fence enclosing the compound near the house, where goats and sheep of the post were usually placed at hand to serve the officers' table. To a stout post an enormous python writhed and distorted its distended, glistening body, in a mad fury, unable to free itself from an iron chain coming out of his mouth, firmly attached to a post. I recoiled a trifle alarmed, the creature looked so frightful!

"Behold, madame, how we Congolese cruelly hold a prisoner, even a native python," I exclaimed, "but why don't you kill him outright?—Why torture the monster?" Still woman fashion, I pressed another question, "How, did you get him on the chain?"

He, man-fashion, answered categorically, "We did not kill him because we wanted to surprise you, madame. Not but I think that his conscience and indigestion are torturing him, still he deserves to be punished. We had a choice fat kid chained to that post, which we intended for our menu today. In the night that greedy, venturesome poacher thought it an excellent breakfast for himself, and after gorging the goat, found himself imprisoned by the chain, which had not slipped from the neck of his prey. Have I not provided you with a novelty to add to your repertoire, Madame?"

Verily, he had, and disproved the old saying as to the wisdom of a serpent.

Larouette Explains

In reply to an inquiry as to just what constitutes a "tentative permit," Trustee H. P. Larouette said: "Heretofore people have taken out a permit for, we will say, a $4000 house. Before the house was completed its cost was $6,000. As the price of the permit is based on the full value of the improvement, the city is out on the $2,000 increase."

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kingsbury and Miss Clark at a Pine Inn tea last Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. William P. Silva, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. C. Chappel Judson, Mrs. John B. Jordan, Mrs. Herman A. Spoehr, Mrs. E. A. Kluegel, Mrs. Abbie Abbott, Mrs. Maude Arndt, Mrs. S. S. Seward, Mrs. Perry Newberry, Miss Alice Birdseye, Miss Bolling Gregg, Miss Blanche Tolmie, Miss Mary Wilkinson and others.

Two dollars a year will keep yourself or friends informed through the columns of the Pine Cone.

Local Films at Arts and Crafts

Of local interest to Carmelites will be the film, "The Sunshine Gatherers," to be shown by George E. Stone at Arts and Crafts Community Theater next Wednesday night.

This film was made by Mr. Stone in 1920 to advertise the fruit industry of California. As an historical background for this enormous industry there was introduced a colorful episode showing the arrival of Father Serra and his followers, bringing with them fruit trees from Spain. After the lauding scenes the priests are shown directing the natives in the planting of these trees.

Because of the great wealth of material available it was necessary to restrict the historical prologue to a few short scenes. In these few flashes, however, the lover of Carmel's scenery will recognize Midway Point, the Mission, and the Carmel river, with its Fishermen from Monterey took the parts of soldiers and priests, while soldiers from the Presidio played the Indian roles.

On the same program will be shown "A Day with John Burroughs," "Magic Clay," "Hagopian the Rug Maker," and two dance scenes synchronized to music. All of these will be in Prizma natural color. One "Scrapbook Reel" will include bits of Mr. Stone's work over a period of eleven years. Microscopic life in a drop of water. Scenes from malaria, and bits of stop motion photography, showing the growth of plants and the bursting of blossoms.

Humane President Welcomed Home

The Carmel Humane Society met last Wednesday afternoon at Pine Inn and welcomed their president, Miss Louise Conger, who has been in China three months. It being also Mrs. J. B. Jordan's birthday, the officers of the society presented her with a fancy box of candy. Besides Miss Conger and Mrs. Jordan there were present Mrs. M. Brewer, Miss Alice McChesney, Mrs. L. U. Brake and Mrs. O. H. Yates.

This committee of ladies will meet early next week with the committees from Pacific Grove and Monterey to arrange for the pet animal show the last of June.

New Constitution for Arts and Crafts Club

At the last monthly meeting of Arts and Crafts Dr. A. E. Burton, representing the committee, presented the tentative draft of the new constitution and bylaws. As much discussion ensued, it was decided to place a copy in the president's office (the Hand office) that members may study it at their leisure and be prepared to vote intelligently.

Announcement

Miss Gladys Young announces that Carmel's new beauty shop, the "Powder Puff," of which she is proprietor, will open for business on or about next Monday. The new concern is located on Ocean ave., opposite the Pine Cone office. Phone 924. adv

PINE NEEDLES

James and Ralph Arnot were here for a short visit with their parents.

Miss Georgia Sally White of Sunset school spent the week-end in San Francisco.

Arlene Payne has returned from the University of California for her summer vacation.

Arthur Cyril and his newly acquired police dog, Alex, spent the last week-end at Hoffman's Camp.

W. H. McCollom and wife of Santa Barbara spent Mother's day with Dr. and Mrs. C. A. McCollom.

Mrs. A. L. Emery is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. de Forest, at their home in Palo Alto.

Mrs. E. A. Tanner of Warren, R. I., is visiting at the home of her daughter, William Duggan, on Casanova.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Black of Los Angeles spent the week-end at The Dunes, together with a party of friends from Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Ross McKee, after a wonderful trip through the Orient, returned here last Tuesday. They leave Monday morning for New York.

Miss Laura Lewis will sing at the 10 o'clock service in All Saints' Episcopal church tomorrow morning. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

Hollywood movie people here during the week were Edwin Carew, director; J. D. Hawkes, scenario writer; Miss Irene Dalton and Miss Mary Carlisle.

Miss Grace Morris, former local correspondent for the Monterey paper, now buyer for the misses' department of a San Francisco store, has returned from New York.

Author Peter B. Kyne, creator of "Cappy Rieck," was on the peninsula a few days ago. He was looking about in Carmel and Pebble Beach for a home site.

Miss Stella Guichard, proprietor of Carmel's pioneer dry goods store, is away for a week, visiting her old home at Ben Lomond, her friends at St. Helena and Oakland, and running in to San Francisco for a day or so.

Miss Margaret Musser, one of the proprietors of the Serendipity shop, in the Court of the Golden Bough, had as guests recently her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Parley Musser of Oakland.

The Carmel city trustees are to hold an adjourned meeting next Tuesday night. The members of the sanitary board will be present and the proposed general sewer system will be discussed.

The state convention of the American Legion, scheduled to take place in Monterey, in August, will be held in Santa Cruz instead. Limited housing facilities in Monterey is given as one of the reasons for going to Santa Cruz.

The operetta, "Love and Whist," was delightfully presented by the students of Monterey Hi last night. The show had an all Carmel cast, made up of Irene Gould, Henrietta Farley, Christine and Beryl Otis and Gwyneth Willner.

"Do Rats Talk to Each Other?" Asks Mr. M. Betty, R. I.

"I got five cakes of Rat-Snap and threw pieces around feed store. Got about half a dozen dead rats a day for two solid weeks. Suddenly they got fewer. Now we haven't any. Who told them about Rat-Snap? Rats dry up and leave no smell. Those mice, too, 35c, 65c, $1.25.

Local Baseball

The high "multitude" at Carmel Woods field probably accounts for the heavy hitting and big scores. Last Sunday the scores were, Blues 19, Giants 14; Reds 16, Pirates 12. The standing of the teams to date:

	G.	W.	L.	Pct.
Blues	3	3	0	100
Reds	3	2	1	666
Pirates	3	1	2	333
Giants	3	0	3	000

A scoreboard would help to make the Abalone League games more interesting from the spectators' standpoint.

When First Baseman Hooper plowed into the plate after making an honest-to-goodness home run, he got a big hand.

Sam Morse rifled them to first a mile a minute.

Conspicuous by their absence from the line-up last Sunday were Don Hale, Kit Cook, Doc Gottfried, Steve Glassell and Eddie Burns. Let's form an outlaw league, fellers!

"Doc" Hollison's batting average is now .181. But, say, he's a swell short-stop.

Bonnie Gottfried got quite a jar when she involuntarily sat down near second base.
